The University of Louisiana at Lafayette Athletic Training Program Mission Statement is:

“The mission of the Athletic Training Program at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette is to prepare our students for professional assimilation through a rigorous education process that blends a challenging academic curriculum with aggressive, hands-on clinical experiences. Through this process, our students will become life-long learners that seek answers to the changing medical environment by exploring and conducting research. Ultimately, graduates of the Athletic Training Program at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette will be prepared to successfully attempt the Board of Certification (BOC) exam and become competent allied health care professionals for the physically active individuals of South Louisiana and surrounding region.”

Athletic Training High School Student Aide Workshop 2018

March 10, 2018

University of Louisiana at Lafayette Athletic Training Program

What is Athletic Training?

A Certified Athletic Trainer (ATC) is a highly qualified and board certified allied health professional educated and experienced in the health care of the student-athlete and the physically active. A certified athletic trainer's duties include the prevention, recognition, immediate treatment, and rehabilitation of injuries caused during physical activity or athletics. ATC's are board certified through the National Athletic Trainer's Association Board of Certification (NATABOC) and state certified through the Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners (LSBME).

The Sports Medicine Association (SMA) is proud to host this Ragin' Cajun High School Aide Athletic Training Workshop. SMA is comprised of Athletic Training students who organized the workshop as well as volunteering in other community events.
